Do I agree or disagree that celebrities make more money than they deserve? I agree that they get more money than they deserve. They use that money to buy things they don't need. Look down on people with no money. And they get out of trouble ~~cause~~ because they are celebrities.

Most celebrities go buy big houses. When they could give their money to people that need it. They don't need a house that 4 million dollars. Cause they are just normally people but with a gift of ~~being~~ ~~being~~ ~~being~~ being a actor or a athlete.

When celebrities go out on the town they look down on people with no money. They should be nice and give to the people who don't have any money. They wouldn't like if didn't have any money and people looked down on them.

And they get out of trouble cause they are famous. But that is not right. If they do something wrong they should have to pay the price. Just cause they are famous don't meant anything, They are just normally people.

This is what I think about celebrities getting to much money. They buy things they don't need. Look down on others that don't have what they got. Finally they get out trouble cause they are famous, but they ~~is~~ just a like everyone else.

Score Point: 3

This response reflects a limited degree of proficiency in persuasive writing skills. The writer states a clear position agreeing that celebrities make more money than they deserve. Three key ideas are presented to support this position (they buy things they do not need, they look down on people, and they get out of trouble). However, the explanation of the key ideas is general and repetitive. An organizational structure is evident, but the introduction and conclusion are weak. Errors in writing conventions are evident.
